Dedication

*Keep going hard
Dr. Geo. Gerlach*

With pride and sincerity, we, the class of 1952, dedicate our yearbook to Dr. George Gerlach. Rendering his services to our injured athletes, he has endeared himself to many of them. He is a symbol of kindness and goodness—Christian qualities. He has been a pal to the boys; and, as they leave McCaskey, there will be a little emptiness in each one's heart. That spot will be for Dr. Gerlach. No, we won't forget him so quickly, for a kind word is cherished and a helping hand is remembered in this busy world.

He sought no reward for what he did. He simply sought to help.

Dr. Gerlach has a friendly chat with Ray Wolf as he examines him for injuries.

Foreword

As the last pages fall from the calendar of our activities in McCaskey High School, we glance wistfully over our memo pads. Back come fond memories of the first wide-eyed glimpses of this new phase in our life and the feeling of awe that came with our increased freedom and independence. Our three brief years here have passed all too quickly, and now we are studying the zodiac for signs of what lies before us.

We have spent these years with our friends and classmates, living in a world all our own. Although we have been made aware of the world situation by old friends coming and going in uniforms, we have not concerned ourselves too much with the history that was being made throughout the world. Now we find it difficult to face a future as uncertain as ours.

Let us remember, however, that the problems facing us as new leaders of the world are not so big as they may seem. Though the forecast seems threatening, there is still a Good Shepherd caring for his flock that none need go astray.

Alma Mater

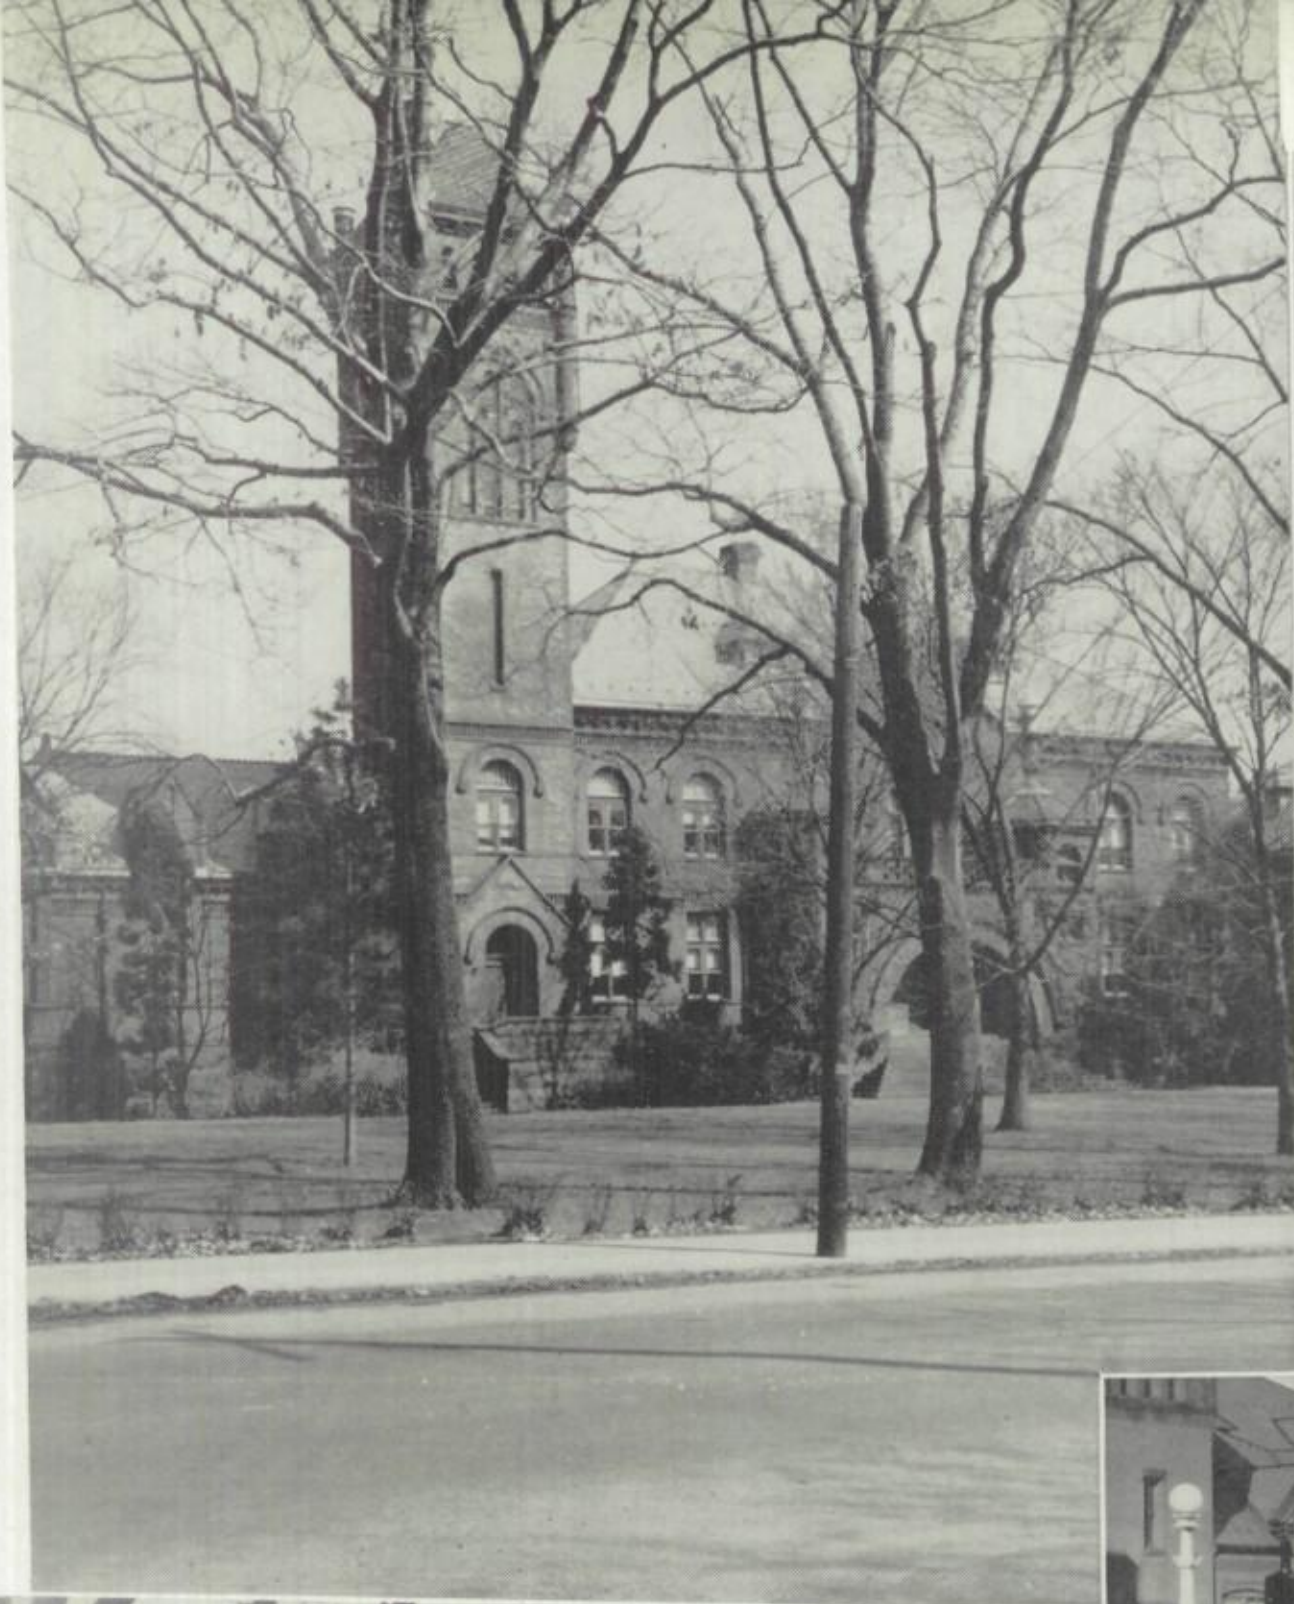

Hail to thee, our Alma Mater,
As we sing our grateful song.
Proud are we for thee and prouder
That to Lancaster we belong.
School days filled with joy and laughter
Soon will be a memory.
May they teach us to be braver
As we face our destiny.

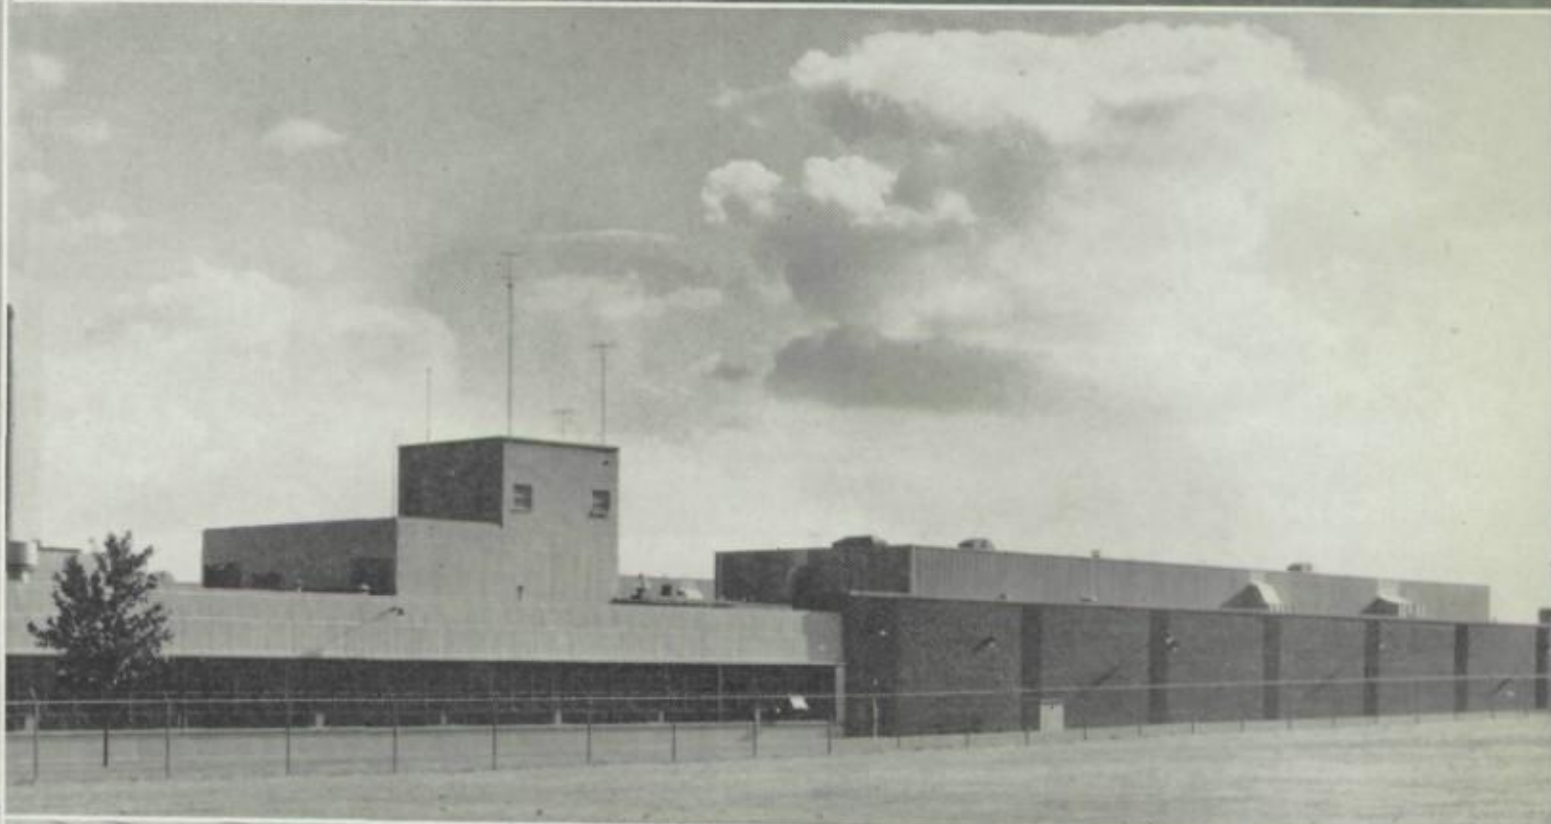

Hail to thee, our Alma Mater,
Help us now to prove our worth,
As we strive to do thee honor,
Garden Spot of all the earth.
Through the years our foes discerning,
Red and black—our flag we'll fly
O'er the best in sport and learning.
Hail to thee, McCaskey High.

All through the year one may enjoy Lancaster's beautiful and varied scenery. Traveling westward from Penn Square, one will find the Theological Seminary and Fackenthal Library, representing the religious and educational life. To the east one may see the City Water Works aiding in the preservation of health, and R.C.A., an industrial center of Lancaster. A typical Garden Spot farm is a refreshing sight found almost any place in Lancaster County.

Top to bottom:

The distributive education class decorate their window in keeping with Pennsylvania Week observance.

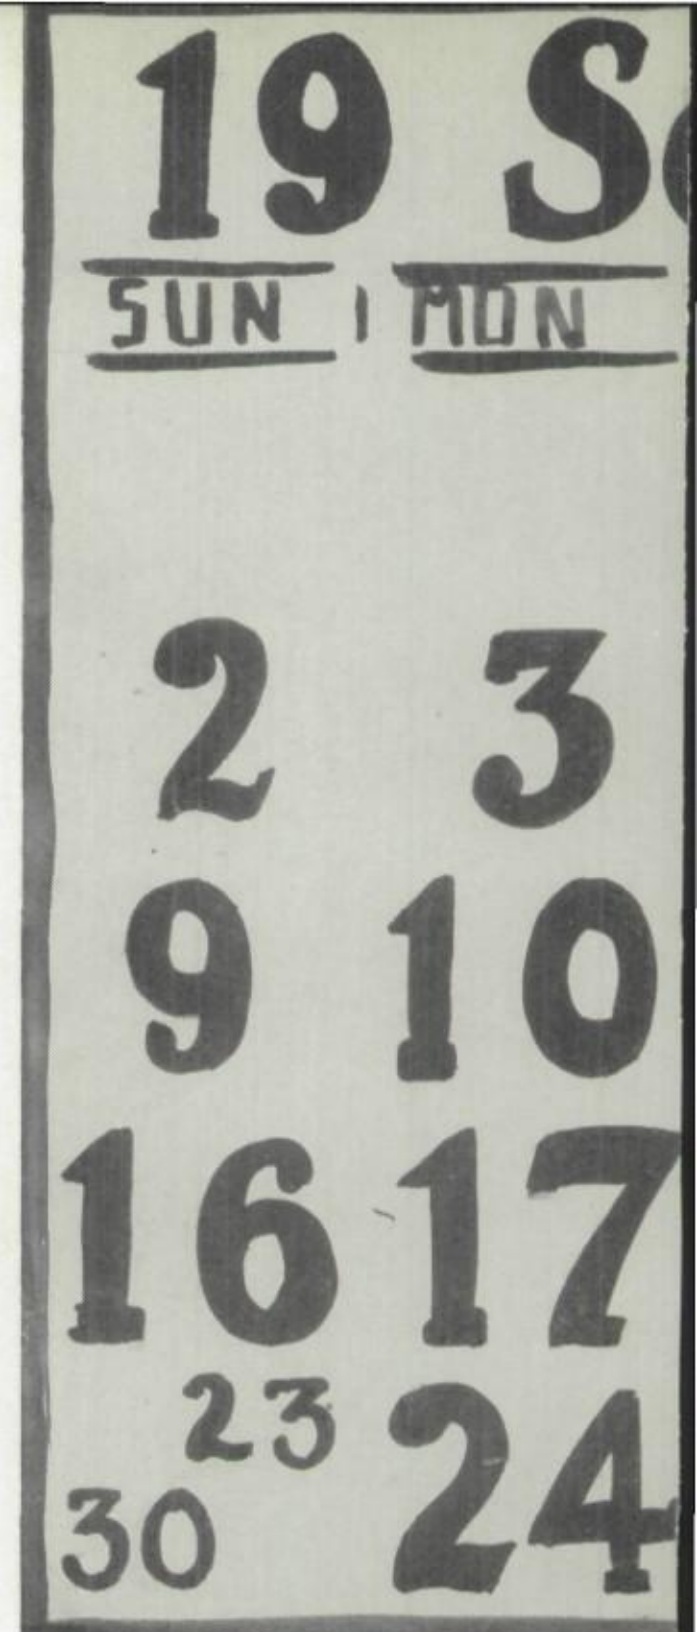

With lots of fun and plenty of lively music, the band is off to an exciting football game.

Hungry McCaskey students take time out from class work to enjoy a typical school meal.

Working on a transparency is only a small part of the training craft students receive in Mr. Criswell's classes.

What is it like on the inside of a huddle? This one was caught just before action.

Senior Hi-Yers catch up on their checkers at one of their weekly meetings.

September

With the opening of school in September, McCaskey was filled with the hustle and bustle of many different activities. The new sophomores were introduced to the building by the members of the National Honor Society, and though they were a bit wide-eyed at first, they soon caught on to the routine. Throughout the school, extra-curricular activities began to operate. The leaves dropped from the trees and the crisp autumn air raised school spirit high.

VIDETTE

Throughout the school year the VIDETTE worked hard to keep up with the many activities in McCaskey. For the fourth time the paper, crammed full of wit, sports, and coming events, brought honor to the school by winning medalist rating from C. S. P. A. A favorite with many was the column in which were recorded the foolish, but innocent, mistakes made in the classrooms almost every day. The VIDETTE has been a memo pad for McCaskey's activities from September to June.

Members of the Junior class have been working hard toward the goal of becoming seniors. Throughout a busy year of serving on committees, planning assembly programs and ushering at concerts and plays, they have not forgotten to keep their feet on the ground where studies are concerned. Having elected their class officers, and having chosen their motto and colors, they show an enthusiasm and vitality for becoming seniors that is hard to match.

The new sophomores follow members of the Honor Society on a guided tour of McCaskey. One of the first places on the tour was the cafeteria.

Following the distribution of programs in the auditorium there was the general exodus to the homerooms. Miss Naomi B. Terry, sophomore homeroom adviser, and Shirley Sterling, Honor Society guide, lead the way to room 203.

One of the first responsibilities is the filling out of the registration blank. It is necessary to know names, addresses, phone numbers, and other details about the new members of the school family.

Sophomores

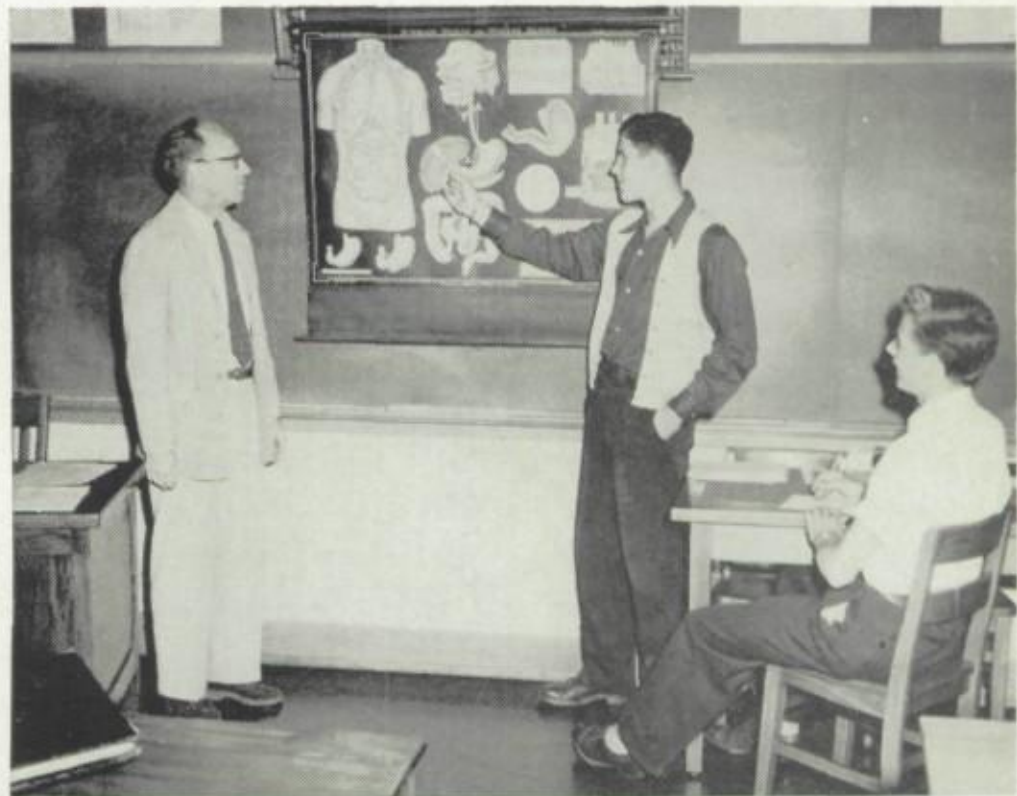

Although the "Sophs" took quite a ribbing from the upperclassmen, they adjusted themselves to high school life very quickly. At the beginning of the year they were a little wide-eyed, but they soon began to show their abilities in all of McCaskey's activities. As the days fly by, more and more will be expected of this class, and they are showing an interest that will take them to the top in the coming school years.

Enrollment being completed the students are ready for participation in the school work.

October

Along with pumpkins and football, October brought to McCaskey the annual Hallowe'en Queen Contest. From several talented contestants, the students chose Grace Bowman to represent the school amidst confetti and corn shocks. Towards the middle of the month the fall play got under way with a group of happy boys and girls. By now, all had begun to settle into a carefree school-life, mixing studies with school dances and sports and having a wonderful time doing it.

The Tornado gridders started the season off with a bang by winning their first two games, but from then on they fell prey to injuries which seriously hampered the team throughout the remainder of the season. However, they managed to eke out a record of three wins and seven losses.

The most thrilling game of the season was played with John Harris, when the Red and Black were holding a 7 to 6 lead in the final quarter, only to have the lads from Harrisburg turn the tide and go on to win.

Junior Varsity Football

The Tornado J. V.'s opened the season nicely, and it seemed as though they were on the road toward a good season. They ran, however, into a streak of bad luck, and several of the players were promoted to the varsity. They managed to record a total of 3 wins and 5 losses.

Coach Edward Haller considered it a fair season and reported that the outlook for next year is bright with quite a few coming up from the junior highs.

The Marching Band

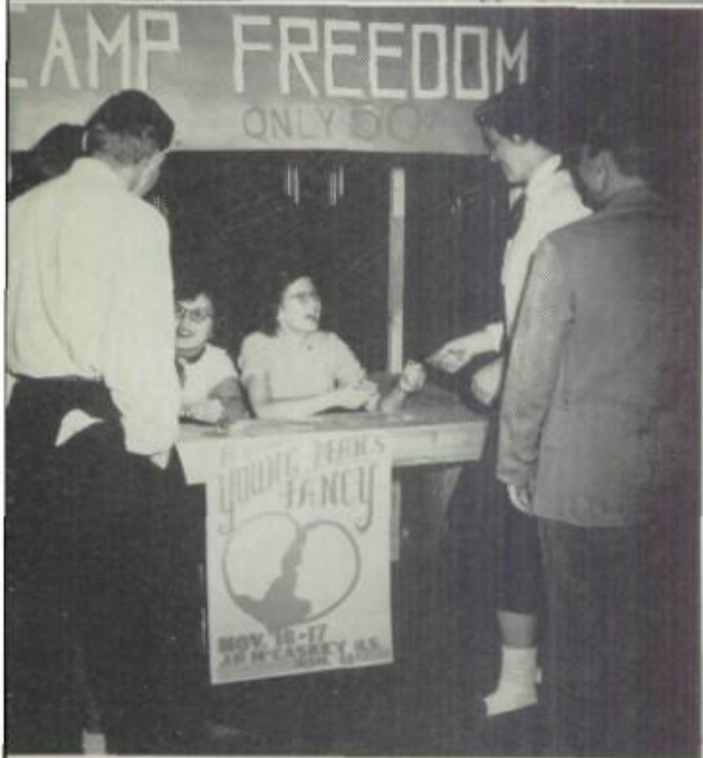

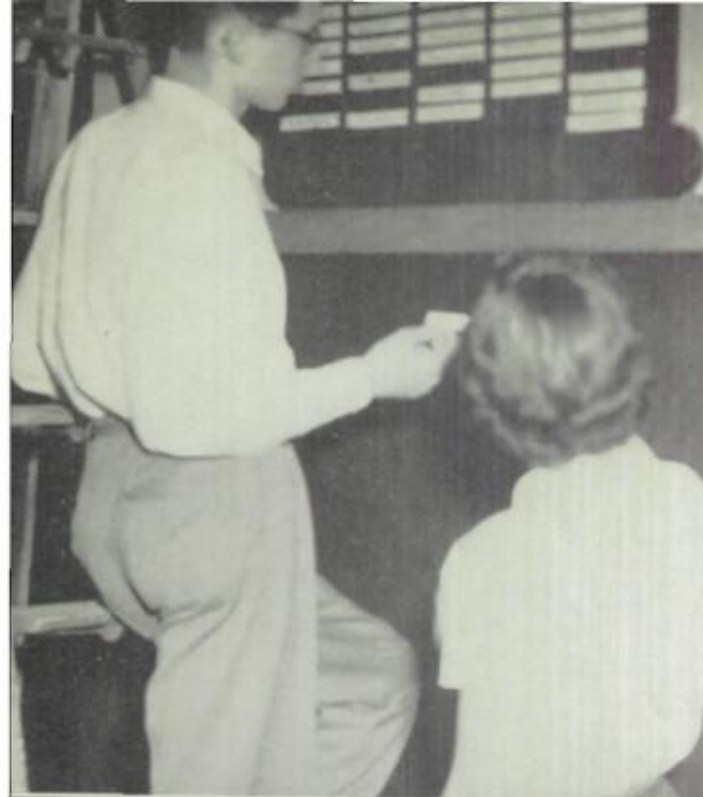

Neat formations and a snappy color guard help make McCaskey's band outstanding.

McCaskey's marching band has gained recognition throughout Lancaster for its fine music and smart appearance. After days and weeks of practice, it has become a fine addition to any football game or parade and a pride to the school.

November 51

November

Clear November ushered in the presentation of the play "A Young Man's Fancy," which entertained the audience with its light-hearted plot. Soon pictures of the Pilgrims and Plymouth Rock gave reminders that Thanksgiving Day was drawing near. Before long families and friends were sitting about the table, thanking God for all His gifts. From the traditional turkey with all the trimmings to the many exciting football games, November was a crisp refreshing month.

During the month of October the members of the play cast were kept busy trying to find ways for dropping buckets of water from the ceiling and collapsing cots without getting hurt. The days flew swiftly by, and before they knew it the calendar told them it was November and time for opening night of the sparkling comedy, "A Young Man's Fancy."

Top to bottom:

Now Dickie is a pal to the Camp Freedom boys, who protect him from two Camp Trilby bullies.

An angry Mr. Crandall shouts his complaints to Miss Weatherhead as his stunned wife looks on.

Sylvia Wilson sends her friends down to the swimming pool, where she will join them later.

Caught! Harold Greenley holds Faith as Dr. Spee gives her a tongue-lashing for stealing medical books.

"Aw gee, Sis!" Harold tries to explain to Helen that boys will be boys.

Camp Freedom boys "rough up" their bunkmate Dickie Crandall, whom they consider a sissy.

Social Committee

Committee Chairmen:

First row: Sylvia Denlinger, Checkroom; Cynthia Crosland, Guests; Joan Truxal, Refreshments; Chris McMurtrie, Property.

Second row: Alan Shenk, Music; Ann Harding, Admissions; Richard Leaman, Publicity; Robert de Mora, Decorations.

Right: Cynthia Crosland places a lei around the neck of the belle of the Valentine Capers, Phyllis Marshall. William Hall, the beau of the ball, stands looking on.

The All-School Social Committee sponsors several dances throughout the year. This year's leadership was in the hands of Susan Willet and Ronald Musser, and the activities were carried on by the various committees.

The first dance was a Homecoming Dance held in November. January brought a Victory Dance after a basketball game; February, the Valentine Capers; April, the Dogpatch Dip; and May, the Tomahawk Twirl.

The most important and final dance of 1951-1952, the Senior Prom, was conducted successfully through the careful planning of the Social Committee.

Members:

First row: Roberta Coble, Joan Perry, Suzanne Groff, Sandra Selfon, Elaine Giltman, Carol Giltman.

Third row: Charles MacKenzie, William Zecher, William Mathews, Janis Sube, John Bender, Lloyd Mullen, Jack Moore, Robert Harman, Daniel Fickes, Richard Good, James J. Neely, Coach.

Soccer

With only three returning lettermen, Coach James Neely's Red and Black booters through hard work gained a record of 7 wins and 2 defeats; the Jayvees won 3 and lost 1. Highlight of the season was the defeat of their arch rival, Reading, by a close 2 to 1 score. Coach Neely reports that a good nucleus is returning for the 1952 games—a good sign for the coming year.

Lloyd Mullen heads the ball.

Cheerleaders

In all kinds of weather, near and far, our cheerleaders were always there to cheer our boys on. They added school spirit to a defeated school which had very little enthusiasm left. These six girls fulfilled their obligations without fuss or argument.

First row: Elaine Hershey.

Second row: Elaine Giltman, Carol Giltman.

Third row: Patricia Groff, Marcella Cushman, Cynthia Crosland.

Tumbling Team

"Early to bed and early to rise" was the slogan of the tumbling team. Every morning they practiced willingly and sincerely to achieve the splendor which they received and deserved. They put on exhibitions not only in school, but also for various organizations in the community.

Standing (back): Norman Young, Carl Rupp, Miss Laura Buller, Gwendolyn Morrissey, Charles Peterman, Lloyd Mosemann, Louis Jones.

Library Club

From the beginning of school in September to the close of school in June; from before-school to after-school hours, the members of the Library Club render service to the school in the checking of books, in the care and accessioning of materials that will be needed for reference work, and in the preparation of displays which shall be of help to the students in directing attention to all the library has to offer.

For the second year, November has seen a co-operative effort by representatives of Education, Industry, and Business. The first year's program took the teaching force into the field of business. This year the leaders in business and industry came to the schools to visit. Through the exchange of ideas it is hoped that the schools may be able to see the needs to be met and thus give the best training possible for the future employees.

A panel discussion, moderated by Dr. Harvey A. Smith, superintendent of schools, brought to light a picture of what the schools are trying to do and what the business and industrial leaders feel they need.

First row: Patsy Barr, Susan Willet, Sonja Wetzel, June Sneath, Joan Warfel, Joan Truxal.

Third row: Shirley Hinerdeer, Shirley Buckwalter.

Table: Patricia Groff, Joyce Wireback.

The Student Council

Representatives from the sophomore, junior, and senior classes, selected by the students to be members of the Student Council, serve in preparing assembly programs; revising the handbook, a publication beneficial to future McCaskeyites; doing things to improve the school; taking care of the honor roll; and appointing people for the ushering committee. These dependable students have a great task to do from the beginning of school to the closing day.

Patricia Groff, treasurer, Joyce Wireback, secretary, Robert Ritter, president, and Patricia Barr, vice president, look over a list of activities for the Student Council.

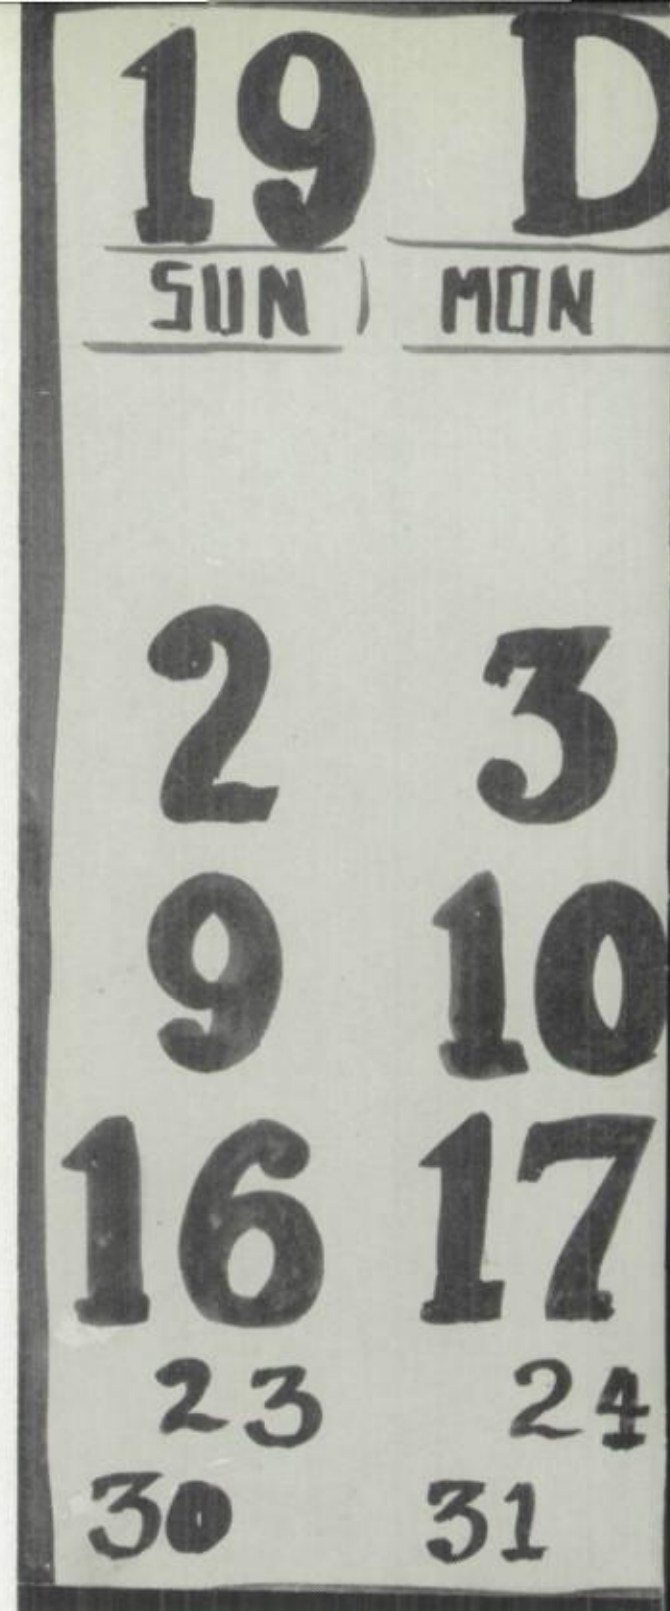

Top to bottom:

The Juggler, Larry Quinn, performs before the statue of the Madonna, Shirley Sterling, in the Christmas concert.

A member of the art class, James Bear, puts the finishing touches on the wayside shrine used in the Christmas concert.

President Patricia Groff presents the 1952 diary to Dr. Herr at the Christmas assembly.

Costumes for "The Juggler" were made by students using authentic sketches of medieval French clothing as patterns.

December

Entering with bells and bright red and green ornaments, December brought to McCaskey a new burst of energy. The Glee Club and the Orchestra presented a beautiful Christmas concert with pantomimes by other members of the student body. For a short while studies were left and thoughts turned to social life. Vacations were spent in many different ways, but all felt the spirit of the Yuletide Season, when the first snowflakes fell softly on the earth, and the carolers retold the birth of Christ.

Dr. Martin acts as narrator for the pantomime, "The Juggler of St. Valery," in the Christmas concert. The scene is laid in a medieval French monastery and Dr. Martin wears the dress of a monk to carry out the theme of the production.

Barbara Oberholtzer, David Anderson, Grace Bowman, Robert Hess, Barbara Hume, Eugene Jones Lee Poole, Samuel Micciche, Marian MacMillan, Donald Anderson, Anne Arey, Charles Shirk — the McCaskey choristers.

Top: Larry Quinn, the juggler, kneels before the wayside shrine to pray for protection from the biting winter cold.

Right: As if in answer to his prayers, a monk, portrayed by Mr. Criswell, appears and offers the juggler shelter in the monastery.

Below: At the monastery the monks — Mr. Butz, Mr. Hartman, and Mr. Sinclair—are found busily rehearsing some music which they have composed. Illumination of the pages of a large book is the task of one of the monks, Mr. Broome.

"The Juggler of St. Valery"

The production of the dramatic presentation of the "Juggler of St. Valery" was a new type of attraction at the Christmas concert. For it many of the departments of the school made their contribution of work, for costumes and art work were necessary to make the setting a realistic one. It was also a co-operative effort of faculty and students.

First row: Susan Eman, Helen Treephos, Dora Clarke, Beverly Yohn, Anthony Vulopas, Larry Quinn, Susan Willet, Nancy Sterling, Shirley Hinderdeer, Mary Lou Grassel, Leslie Blatt, Blanche Grosky, Maxine Morrison.

Red Masque Dramatics Club

Every year the Red Masque Dramatics Club presents a one-act Christmas play for the entertainment of the student body. This year the play presented was "Too Much Mistletoe." Sponsoring the spring play is another big task in which each member of the club may take part, serving on any committee he may choose.

Through the weekly programs planned by different members of the club, the students are given an opportunity to learn make-up and theatrical techniques as well as to participate in pantomimes and talent shows.

"Stop!" cries the heroine, Shirley Sterling, as helpless Robert Frey and Carlos White plead with the villain, Grace Bowman.

Opposing players struggle to gain possession of the ball during a strenuous basketball game.

Amidst chatter and laughter a junior Y-Teen club makes plans for future meetings and lively parties.

A few members of the junior Hi-Y look for some new ideas for programs with Jacob L. Hillegas, advisor.

Robert de Mora, Dolores Styer, and Charmaine Wiker, members of the dramatics class, perform in an original play by Chet Gontner.

January

Through soft drifted snow and merry laughter, January led the McCaskey family back to school. For some it was to be the last half year to be spent at McCaskey, and they intended to make the most of it. Though the weather at times was treacherous, students energetically supported the basketball team and cheered until they could scarcely talk. Extra-curricular activities flourished, and a good bit of time was spent in winter sports. The days slipped by unnoticed in this busy frolicking life.

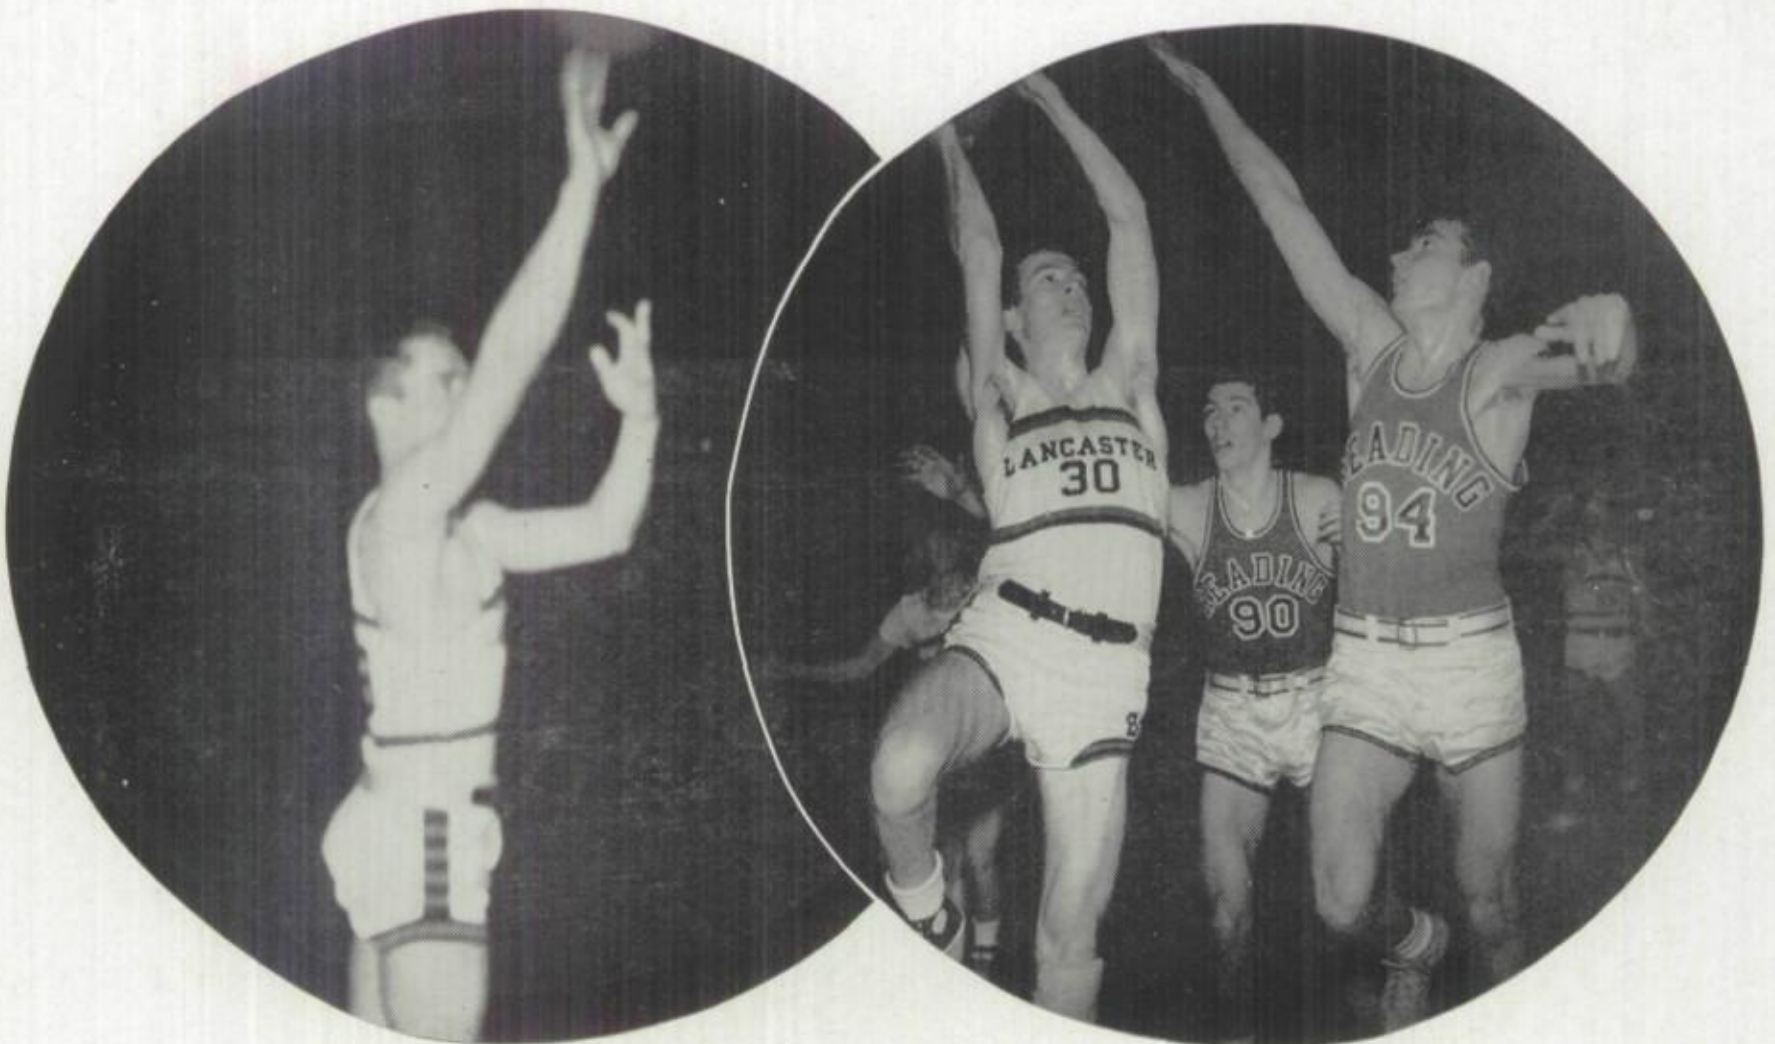

First row: Clifford Hartman, Coach, Fred Mumma, Ronald Wolf, Robert Hershock, John Shufflebottom, John Tompkins.

Varsity Basketball

Moments like these keep the fans cheering in an exciting basketball game.

The Red and Black dribblers opened the season well, but then went into a slump in the face of stiff opposition and managed to win only 4 while losing 14. The best game of the season was against Pottsville, and Coach Clifford Hartman believes that the outlook for next year is very good with a number of fine J-V's coming up through the ranks.

A tense moment.

Junior Varsity Basketball

The J. V. Basketeers had a fair season, compiling a record of 7 wins and 11 losses. Coach Ed Haller's dribblers graduated several of their number to the varsity and this loss handicapped them throughout the season. These boys, however, are expected to form a good nucleus for the 1952-53 season.

Very little experience at the beginning of the season resulted in a poor start; however, as the season progressed, the Tornado matmen won the majority of their meets to come out of the fray with a 6 and 4 record. The junior grapplers won 4 and lost 1.

Three of Coach Brooks's proteges—Tom Herr, Jere Hemperly, and Ralph McComsey—distinguished themselves by becoming District 3 champions; and Hemperly went on to win the Southeastern Regional Championship. The team elected Ray Wolf and Tom Herr co-captains.

Distributive Education Course

Occupying room 112 are the students in the Distributive Education Course, who are enrolled in regular school courses during their sophomore and junior years. In their senior year they attend school in the morning and work in stores of co-operating merchants in the afternoon. These pupils, trained to be future retail salesmen, operate the school store, which all of the students find useful in supplying school supplies, as well as anything from kleenex to sweat shirts.

John Hagen and Parklyn Acker are the "to do"; and Jeri Walker and Richard Baltz, the "not to do" procedure in the skit, "Good Grooming."

Dramatic Training

One of the student-written, student-directed, student-set plays here finds its way to the McCaskey stage.

A good job at make-up is really an art. Members of the class are subjects and artists in turn, as each one strives to "look the part" which is to be played.

One of the elective courses in the English department is the one in dramatics. Here the play is studied from all its angles. There is the consideration of the staging, the writing, the make-up for the play, as well as the actual participation in the auditorium production. One of the interesting displays in the library during the year is that of the stage sets and prop books prepared by the students enrolled in the class.

How different one can look when paint, powder, and pencil lines have been used! Here is a sample of the efficiency developed by the class members.

Sected: Huhun Gunnion, Charmaine Wiker, Dolores Styer, Marian MacMillan.

Standing: Ann Arey, Dorothy Mellinger, Mary Perry, Ann Beltz.

McCaskey pays its last respects to Merrill C. Yost, a former member of the faculty. Mr. Yost, having promoted safety driving in the school, left McCaskey in June, 1951, to take up work in New York. The memory of so fine a man can never die.

Top to bottom:

Dora Clarke and Jean Romig rehearse for the All-State Orchestra Festival held in Williamsport, Pa.

Hazel Kautz and Marina Treephos were the first seniors to achieve 120 words a minute in the shorthand speed tests this year.

Elaine Karlip and her partner win the prize in a spot dance at the Valentine Capers.

Dr. Herr congratulates the contestants in the American Legion contest: Ruth Alexander, Lillian Mirmak, Alexandra Toth, Shirley Sterling, Patsy Krimmel.

February

While rehearsals for the band concert and the spring play were getting under way, February swept in with a flurry of cinnamon hearts and chubby cupids. The girls took advantage of Leap Year at several dances sponsored by the All-School Social Committee and the Y. W., and seniors began preparing for graduation, renting gowns and ordering announcements. In spite of measles and a mysterious virus, all was well at McCaskey as the shortest month of the year came to an end.

Third row: Robert Smith, Joseph Peffley, Joseph Potts, John Clark, Edward Kraft, John Balmer, Russel Bechtold, Manager.

The Red and Black mermen splashed to victory in the majority of their meets, to finish with a record of 7 wins and 4 losses. The J. V.'s continued their unbroken streak by winning all 6 of their contests. Gary Eby and the 200-yard freestyle relay team captured District 3 championships; and they, together with Dale Henderson, went on to the Regional and State meets, where the relay team finished second in the State.

Leaders and Dolphin Club

McCaskeyites who assist Miss Janet Wignall and Mrs. Marilyn Smith in the gym and swimming classes are the girls belonging to the Leaders and Dolphin Clubs respectively. Composed of students from the sophomore, junior, and senior classes, the membership is selected by these teachers because of the girls' dependability and their ability in sports. Their assignments start with the beginning of the school term and are not completed until the last physical education period in June.

First row: Shirley Beck, Rose Ann Schanerberger, Ann Harding, Patricia Groff, Suzanne Foster, Cynthia Crosland, Joanne Ann Peffley.

Hi-Y's

The Y. M. C. A. has organized the Hi-Y to give high school boys a chance to get together once a week for fellowship and fun. The chaplain of each club opens the program, and then plans get under way for projects like the annual Christmas party for underprivileged children. These projects, together with dances and other social activities, give them a well-rounded calendar of events.

First row: Lawrence Quinn, Jacob Zook, Paul Nicholas, John McEllhenney, Donald Pickell, Jere Sahm, Thomas Herr, Edgar Grove.
Second row: Raymond Wolf, William Hall, James Wenger, George Gerlach, Richard Leaman, Chris McMurtrie, Barry Hemperly, Ronald Musser.

Y-Teens

The Y-Teens, sponsored by the Y. W. C. A., offers to the girls a program of worship and recreation. Meeting once a week throughout the school year, the girls plan events such as the annual bazaar which is held to raise funds for the International Y. W. C. A. To fill out their yearly program they sponsor a few parties and semiformal dances, thus forming a club in which every high school girl is welcome.

First row: Shirley Hinerdeer, Janice Hart, Ann York, Sylvia Denlinger, Judy Brubaker, Shirley Myers, Sylvia Harting, Cynthia Crosland, Pat Hardy, Alice Ingram, Charlene Sullenberger, Elmira Miller, Shirley Buckwalter, June Burk, Sara Daugherty.

March

Blustery March blew around the corner with a swirl of dead leaves and snow flakes, as the band presented an entertaining concert. Just as spring came to McCaskey, an enthusiastic audience applauded the play "Strange Borders." Students began to study a little harder when they realized that report cards were due on the last day of the month. After thirty-one days of feverish activity and cold cutting winds everyone looked forward to spring vacation.

Throughout February and windy March the cast worked faithfully on the play in spite of illness and other misfortunes. Keeping one eye on the calendar and the other on the script, they at last came through with a mystery comedy which delighted the audience.

Top to bottom:

"But I ought to untie her!" Lon argues with Candy as an angry Mrs. Hodge struggles to get loose.

WANTED for $100,000 bank robbery! The Deacon, Smiley, Joey, and Boston Benny. $10,000 reward.

Cordelia and the captain try to humor the now-conscious professor, whom they have just carried from the fitting-room.

"Twinkle, twinkle, little star." Glory entertains John and Amity with the result of her three months of violin lessons.

Miss Terry works out stage directions with student directors Susan Eman, Louis Jones, and Russel Bechtold.

Right:

"She's a dummy, ain't she?" Susie enjoys snooping around Cordelia's home on a New England fishing wharf.

Bell Lyres: James Beittel, Patricia Farmer.

Percussion: Ronald Graybeal, Harry Balmer, Ann Beltz, William Greenawalt, William Zecher, James Machlan, Eugene Kittinger, Sara Smith.

In addition to the activities of the Marching Band, the students playing band instruments present a varied and interesting program in the spring in their Concert Band concert. This year's concert had as a new feature of the evening's music vocal numbers by a trio from the Glee Club.

Under the direction of James Zwally, the Band has made excellent progress in precision of performance.

Dick Robb entertains the audience with a baritone solo.

Pat Smith, Barbara Hume, and Grace Bowman sing a serenade.

First row: Ann Harding, Phyllis Asper, Rosemary Snyder, Shirley Sterling, Marcia Stoll, Elaine Giltman, Patricia Barr, Shirley Buckwalter, Lynn Furlow, Phyllis Lower, Carol Giltman, Joan Yarnall, Shirley Hinderdeer, Mary Lou Grassel, Cynthia Crosland, Doris Staub.

Honor Society

Chosen for their leadership, service, scholarship, and character, the National Honor Society members try to help the school and the student body in the varied phases of school activity.

Their service is rendered through different committees; such as, the trophy case committee, the bulletin board committee, the sportsmanship committee, the scholarship committee, and the assembly program committee.

Each year it is the privilege of the Honor Society members to acquaint the incoming sophomores with McCaskey through a guided tour. Also, some of the members help the less skilled students in their studies. This year a new study plan was introduced to help students to achieve better study habits.

Counter-clockwise:

Officers Truxal, Robb, and Barr consult with Mr. Oller, Society adviser.

Hot dogs, candy, soft drinks keep the customers coming to the stadium refreshment stand.

President Robb introduces his father, induction ceremony speaker.

Program selling at the football games is another activity for the members.

Keeping the bulletin board up to date is Ann Harding's own private job.

First row: Clifford Foulz, Roberta Coble, Sara Pfeiffer, Cynthia Crosland, Patricia Barr, Shirley Cashman, Shirley Sterling, Nancy Chryst, Susan Willet, Ronald Musser.

Second row: James Beittel, Joanne Hart, Kitty High, Kathryn Fisher, Patricia Fetterman, Eleanor Bilan, Sandra Selfon, Catherine Baldwin, Diane Gible, Anne Wilson, Richard Leaman.

Quill and Scroll

Quill and Scroll is an international honorary organization for those participating in high school journalism. By making outstanding contributions to the VIDETTE and the ECHO, students qualify for this honor.

National Thespians

The National Thespians Society admits to membership each year those who have earned sufficient points through participation in the dramatics program of the school. McCaskey's troupe, 960, was organized four years ago and is sponsored by Miss Naomi B. Terry.

First row: Susan Eman, Alexandra Toth, Shirley Sterling, Susan Willet, Larry Quinn, Mary Lou Grassel, Patricia Krimmel.

Second row: James Evans, Joan Brown, Anthony Vulopas, Eric Herr, Marian MacMillan, Louis Jones.

Third row: Russel Bechtold, William Carmitchell, Samuel Kahn, John McElhenney, Robert de Mora, James Cushman.

Clerical Training

The mimeograph, an important piece of equipment in the modern office, is included in the training of the students in the commercial course.

Charles Mulhatten, head of the commercial department, teaches the fundamentals of book-keeping and accounting.

Miss Violet Weber sees to it that the mechanical devices to make calculations and to keep records are efficiently used by commercial students, who are thus prepared to take their place in the well-equipped office.

A trip through the commercial wing of McCaskey High School reveals the fact that students may go forth from the school to take their place in the business world, ready to make their contribution of service and to earn a living as stenographers and bookkeepers. Practice in their work is given through the many pieces of work produced for the various departments of the school as typed or mimeographed supplies are needed for office or for class work.

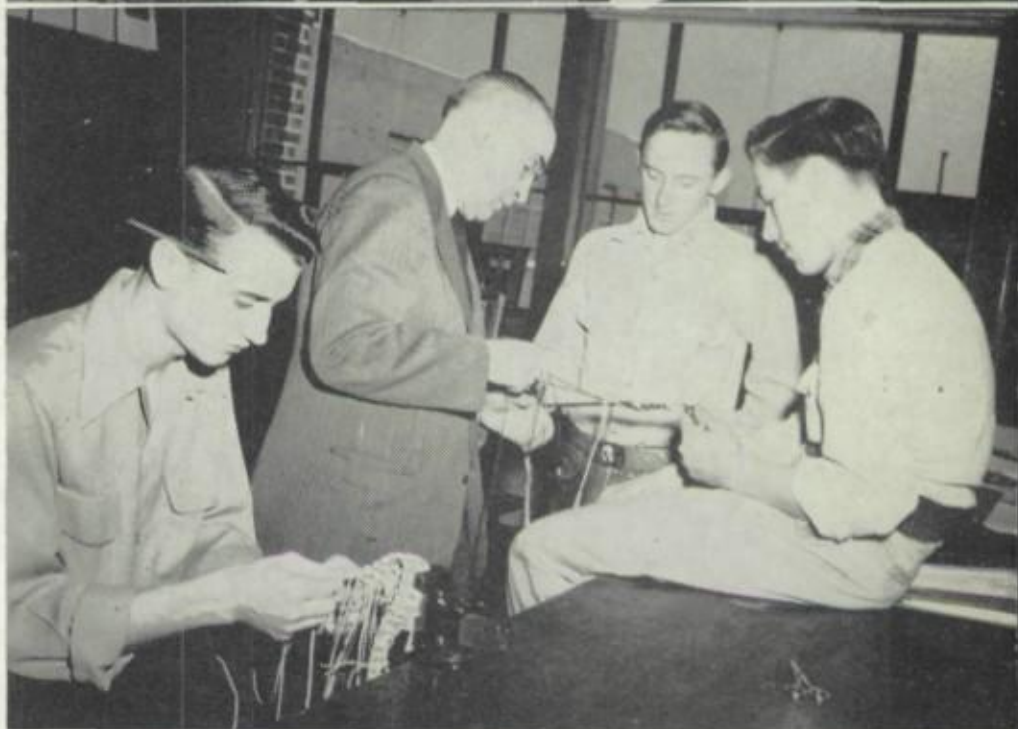

Arts, Crafts

Foods

McCaskey students have an opportunity to learn the various media for artistic expression. Water color is one of the many.

Gardiner Criswell, teacher of craft work, directs the boys in the use of leather cord for the making of belts and other practical work.

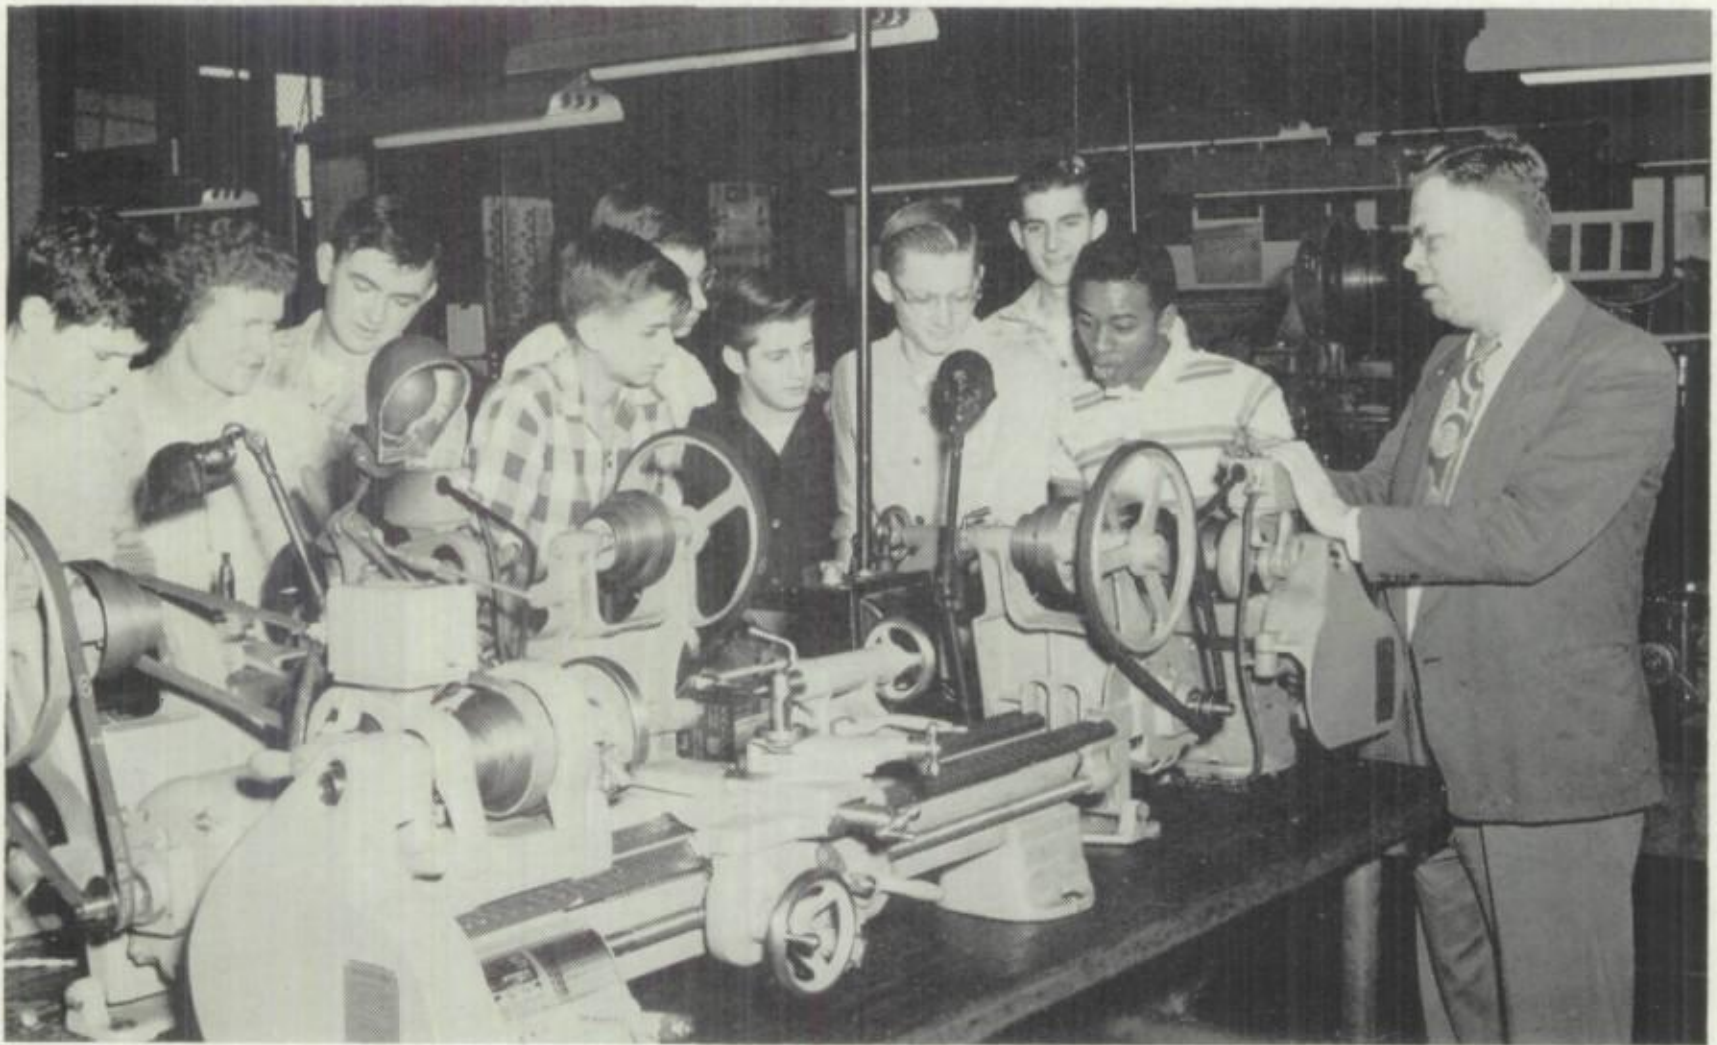

Quite a number of the boys have availed themselves of the chance to learn the intricacies of the culinary art. If the training is put to good use, there may be some fine chefs in the making.

In addition to the strictly academic work, McCaskey offers the students courses to satisfy the artistic temperament. Through the training received in the art and crafts classes many of the students have contributed entries in the SCHOLASTIC contests and they have brought honors to their Alma Mater.

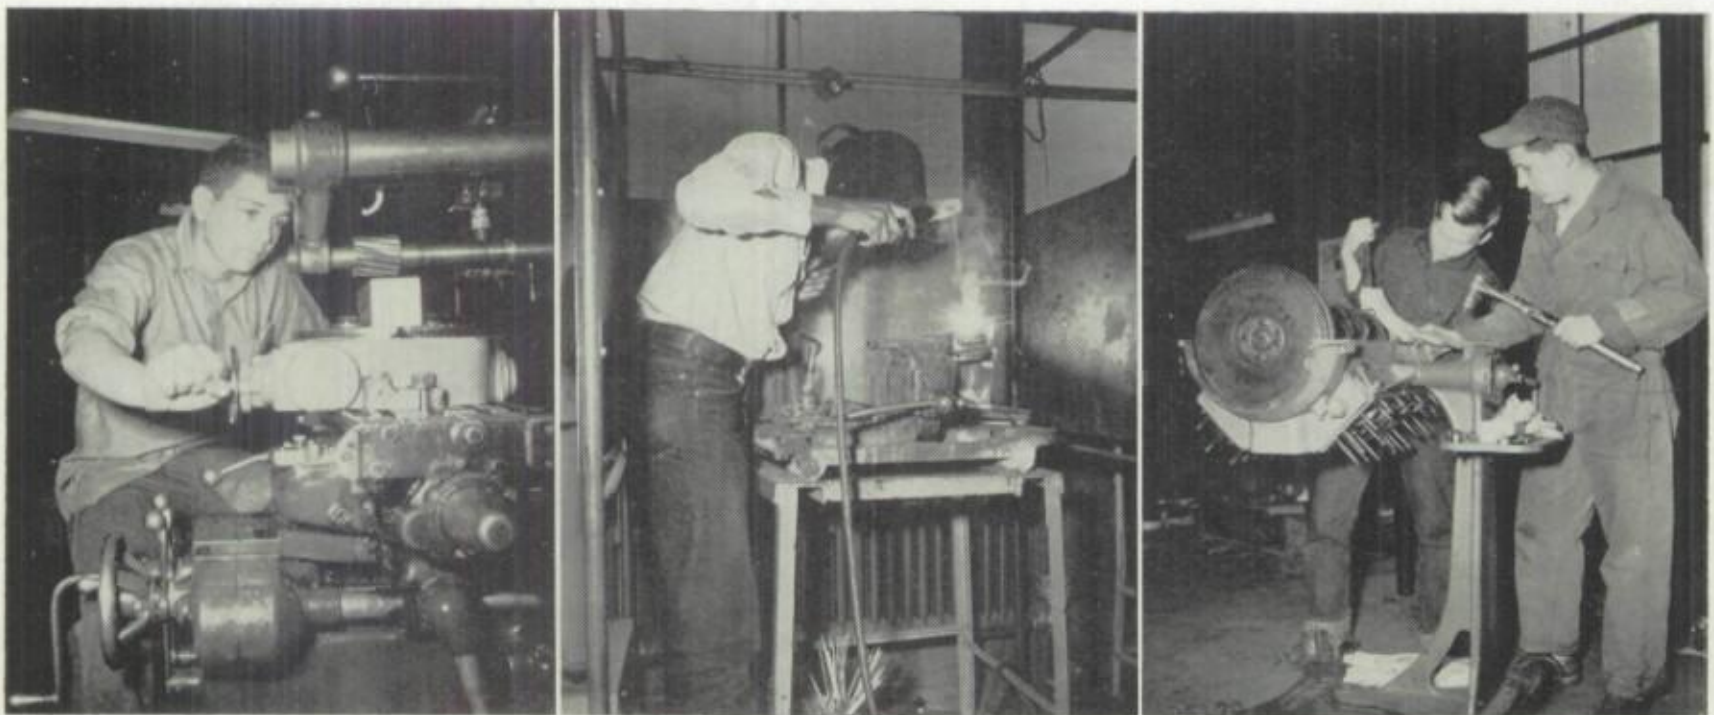

One of the enjoyable events of the 1951-1952 school year was the tea given by the home economics department to which the members of the faculty and the office staff were invited.

Vocational Education

Joseph Fellows, director of the machine shop, proudly demonstrates a new lathe, the latest addition to the shop equipment, to a group of interested vocational boys. Below, the boys show the various types of work taught in the shops by skilled teachers, who will help to develop them into fine workmen.

Two weeks in the classroom and two weeks of industrial training keep the boys busy during all three of their senior high school years. Automobile, machine, electric, and wood-shop work presents training for a wide variety of fields.

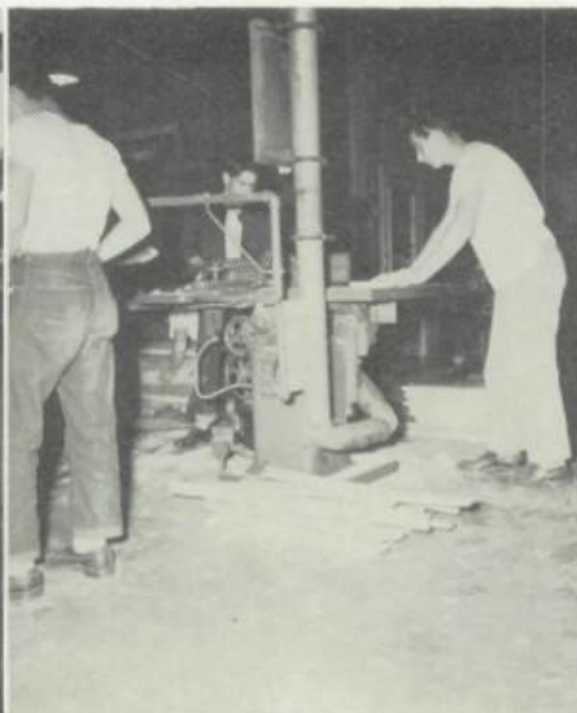

The wood shop is a busy place for construction and repair work. Here the vocational boys learn the construction rudiments that will make them handy men around their homes as well as provide them with training that they may use in the actual work of carpentry and house woodwork. A familiar sight in the wood shop each year is the house constructed "on the premises."

In addition to the wood shop there is the auto shop to train the mechanics who will be able to give helpful service through their work in the efficient repair of automobiles.

The course of study in the electric shop runs the whole gamut from the simple wiring of a doorbell, the wiring of a motor or of a house, to the intricacies of the repair of a television set.

Top to bottom:

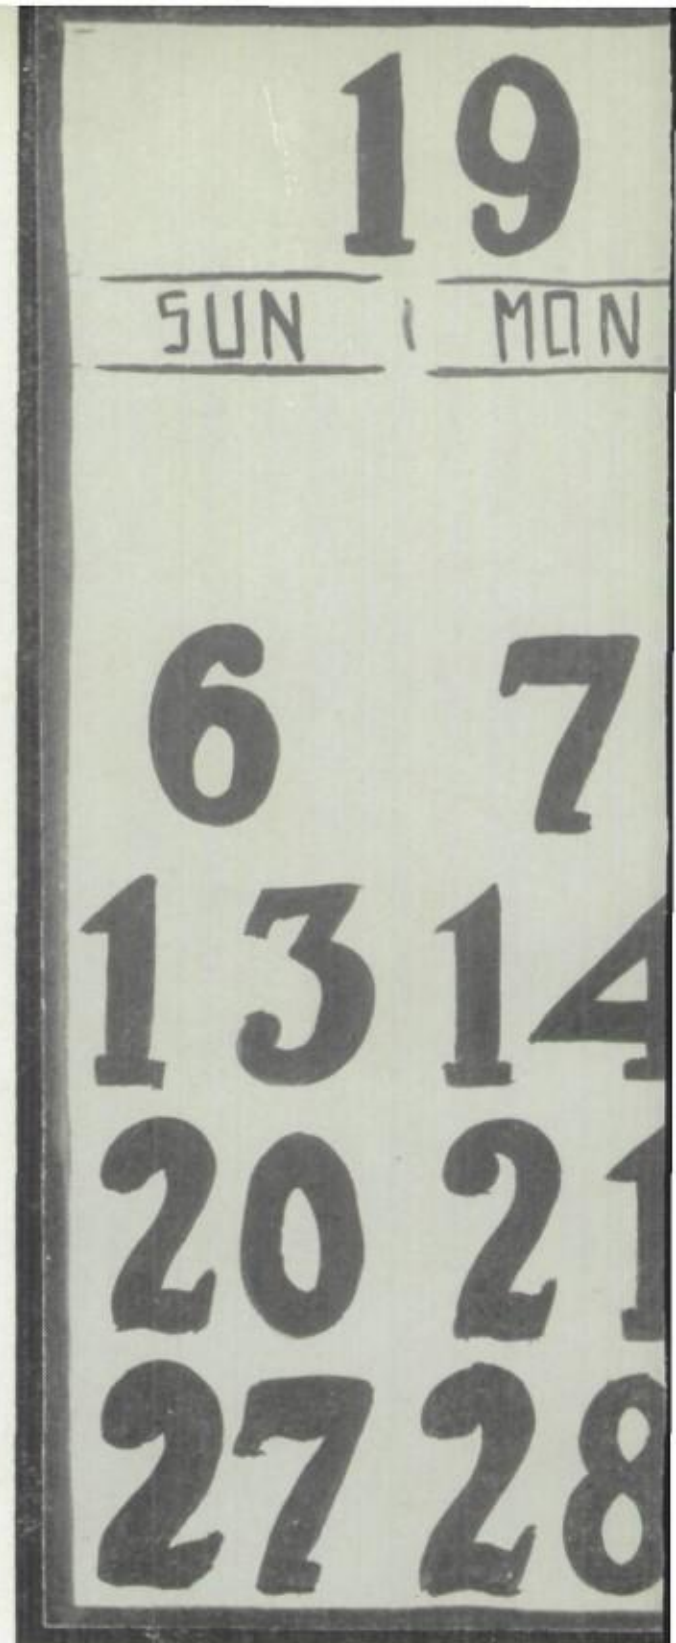

"April Fool!" Don't look so startled, Mary Lou. It's only a little joke.

Happy students head for home as spring vacation begins for the McCaskey family.

The boys begin warming up for track as promises of spring and its warm weather appear.

Baseball gets under way with a team of spirited boys and rooting classmates.

Thespians attending the national convention in Reading take charge of the costume workshop. They are James Evans, Susan Willet, Alexandra Toth, Robert de Mora, Louis Jones, Patricia Krimmel, and Miss Naomi B. Terry, adviser.

April

Soft rains and the first glimpses of green buds were signs that April had come and that senior orations were due. After a good bit of rushing and writing, the speeches were handed in to English teachers and McCaskeyites went their separate ways on spring vacations. Easter, with its lovely white lilies and the beautiful story of the Resurrection, gave to all a feeling of warmth and well-being. With little more than two months of school left, students began to look forward to the warm summer months.

With 26 boys out for baseball, Coach Harry Langford faced the problem of very little actual experience, although a few boys did see service last year. The Tornado nine having opened the season during spring vacation by defeating Steelton, 7 to 1, went on to fulfill a 13-game schedule.

Golf

Coach Joseph Fellows started his fourth season of coaching golf with only two regulars returned from last year's squad, Captain Dick Weaver and Jere Sahm, but he counted on two newcomers, Ronald Herr and Jay Suydam, to help fill the gaps. To complicate things further, the remaining teams in the league were very strong this year and five new teams came into the circuit.

Tennis

Tennis for McCaskey opened its thirty-third season with an entirely new team, as all of Coach William Atchley's 1951 varsity graduated. Some of the boys composing the 1952 varsity saw action on his J.V. team. Coach Atchley's statement, "The outlook for the season is at least fair," was proved when the team opened the season with a practice game in which they defeated Manheim Boro by a wide margin.

Extracurricular Activities

Extracurricular activities claim the response of many of the students at McCaskey. One of these of national and international scope is the work of the Junior Red Cross, to which some of the students give many hours in faithful service. The Red Cross Council of the school gives good leadership for the school's support of this fine program of service.

Other activities to claim the after-school time of many of the girls interested in the various phases of sports are the tennis tournaments, the apparatus work, the hockey games. These are only some of the varied sports promoted through the efforts of Miss Janet Wignall and Mrs. Marilyn Smith, who give many hours of guidance to the contestants.

May

After months of practice, the McCaskey Glee Club introduced the month of May with a fine concert including selections by Gershwin. Students were working on final examinations as the warm sunny days hurried by, and they began to take an interest in the spring sports. Seniors were kept busy with rehearsals for Class Day and last minute preparations for the prom, as the end of an exciting school year was seen in the near future.

Glee Club

Not satisfied with the laurels gained at the time of the Christmas concert, the Glee Club rose to new heights in the spring presentation of a varied program, which featured several selections from Gershwin in addition to the singing of folk ballads and more serious songs. Miss Dorothy E. Schock, director of the group, has helped to share the musical talent of McCaskey by programs in the community as well as the school.

Albert Ely says, "It Ain't Necessarily So."

"Swanee" was Richard Fraser's special contribution to the concert.

Orchestra

Patricia Smith sings "The Man I Love" as her special contribution to the spring concert.

The director, Mr. Zwally, does some special rehearsing for the concert.

This family, composed of students talented in music, played at both school plays, for several assembly programs, and had a joint concert with the glee clubs. Several students were selected for district orchestra and brought honor to their school. Under the direction of James E. Zwally, assisted by student director Harry Balmer, the orchestra has given pleasure throughout the year to both its school and the community.

"Quiet, please!" German students are deep in thought as they struggle through their final examination.

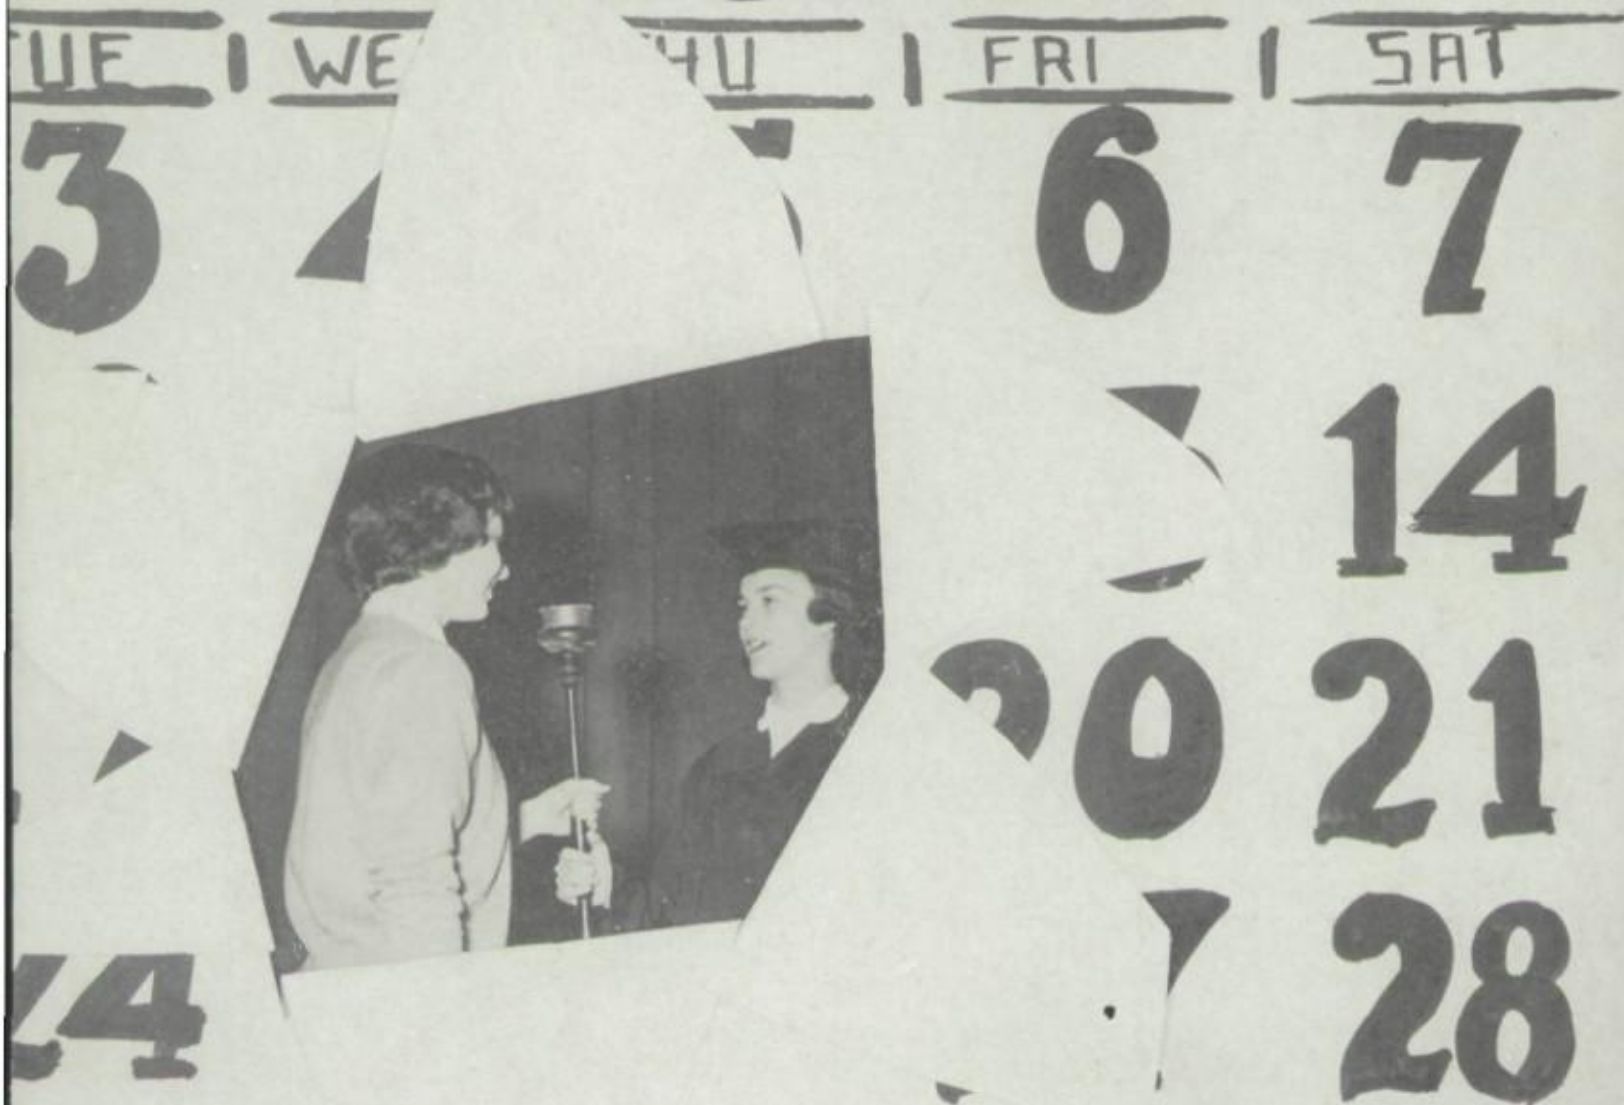

With graduation drawing near, the faculty committee is busy recording grades and establishing senior rankings.

June is here and it's time for the last housecleaning in McCaskey for these seniors.

Seniors now are busy practicing for the commencement procession as the last days of school speed by.

June 52

June

With the last strains of the Alma Mater playing in the background, June brought to a close another year of school activity. Graduates reluctantly said goodbye to teachers and classmates and turned their thoughts to the future as the new seniors prepared to fill their places. With summer fast approaching, everyone looked forward to a few weeks filled with swimming, dancing, and traveling before setting to work again in the fall with a busy life of studies and extra-curricular activities.

The Echo

ECHO

Unnoticed by many in McCaskey, the Echo staff worked all through the year to produce a yearbook that the students would enjoy. After the subscription drive, the members of the staff feverishly began to carry out new ideas for the book. Page layouts, write-ups, ads, pictures—all these had to be carefully planned to make the yearbook an interesting account of an eventful school year which students will cherish in years to come.

First row: Mary Lou Grassel, Phyllis Hollinger, Miss Sarah E. Bitner, adviser.

Second row: Jean Wright, Peggy Leisey, June Kappendobler, Gloria Theis.

Third row: Huhan Gunnion, Kaye Hood, Nancy Hawk, Kitty High.

Fourth row: Catherine Baldwin, Phyllis Lower, Charlene Sullenberger, Shirley Buckwalter.

Fifth row: Joan Nonnenmocher, Florence Schaffner, Leon Kauffman.

Sixth row: Eugene Jones, Wayne Smith.

Seventh row: Donald Caldwell, Richard Marion, Albert Ely.

A whiz at a typewriter, Shirley has hopes of becoming a secretary. The sense of humor she possesses will help her on the road of life.

DANIEL SMITH—General

Danny has spent many Saturdays selling refreshments at home football games. His interests lie in the direction of golf, swimming, and becoming a French teacher.

NANCY JANE SMITH—Commercial

Since she is interested in music, Nancy finds herself frequently at early morning Glee Club rehearsals. After graduation she expects to work in an office as a secretary.

PATRICIA L. SMITH—College Preparatory

Pat, the girl who warbles like Doris Day, is an active member of the Glee Club, Cheerleading Club, and Ushering Committee. In the future she will don the white cap of a nurse.

ANNA E. SMOKER—General

This very thoughtful young lady's greatest interest lies in church work. This interest along with her pleasant personality will make Smokey a fine nurse in the near future.

RAYMOND R. SNYDER—General

Music is Ray's main interest and he hopes to display his talent in a band after graduation. Ray may be seen working at the Columbia Malleable Castings Company in his spare time.

ROBERT D. SNYDER—Vocational

Well known in the vocational wing as "As," to others Bob, this short likable fellow is certain to be successful in almost any field of work.

ANN SOMERFIELD—Commercial

Annie, a future secretary, is interested in sports and music. Y-Teens, intramural sports, and the Classical Record Club filled in her schedule here at McCaskey.

JERE H. SPANG—General

Though hunting is Jere's favorite pastime, Spangoli (his chosen nickname!) plans an Army career.

DUANE CLARK SPIESE—College Preparatory

Star of football, basketball, and track, this popular boy, known to everybody as Ditty, is working toward his goal, which is to be an engineer.

MARVEL STARK—General

Swimming and books interest Marvel. She belongs to the General Clerical Club and hopes to become a bookkeeper.

DORIS STAUB—College Preparatory

Doris's interests lie in sports and music, but she also enjoys a good French story. She is always thoughtful of others. This fine trait will make her a grand teacher.

NANCY J. STAUFFER—Commercial

A good skater, Nancy spends much of her time on wheels or participating in sports. Her pleasant smile will take her far in her ambition to become a secretary.

DONALD R. STEINMETZ—General
If Don can pound those nails as hard as he can pound his feet in track, there will be another good carpenter available.

SHIRLEY STERLING—College Preparatory
Shirley, editor of the ECHO, has a love for dramatics which kept her busy at all times. Her ability to work with people will come in handy in her future as a teacher.

SHIRLEY STONER—General
Shir, who is short but sweet, is one of the high-stepping majorettes. She is a member of the Ushering Committee and after graduation she would like to work in an office.

click. So a good one had. Date each woman. I am going to be a secretary. I will be a good swimmer. I will be a good swimmer. I will be a good swimmer.

CHARLENE G. SULLENBERGER—Commercial
Dolphin Club, Leaders Club, and Glee Club took up much of Charlene's time. A very likable and ambitious girl, she is certain to be an efficient stenographer.

JACQUELINE A. SUPULSKI—General
Jackie, our little dark-eyed giggler, plans to give up her art brush for a pen or a typewriter to use in her office work.

SUSAN L. SWARR—Commercial
Swimming is Suzie's main interest, but she also enjoys participating in intramural sports. On Wednesday evenings she can be found in the Y. In the future Suzie would like to be a bookkeeper.

Best of luck always. Suzie

Best wishes to a swell girl. Charlene

ALLEN SWEIGART—General
A joke can be enjoyed wherever Allen is. An unusual ambition, that of being a good husband, is his intention.

ROBERT N. SWINEHART, JR.—Vocational
M, as he is known in the electric shop, hopes to be an electrician. His interests include making model airplanes.

C. ARTHUR SYKES—General
Art's main interest is in the field of sports, especially swimming. He plans to be an insurance agent.

GLORIA ANN THEIS—Commercial
Swimming, one of Glo's main interests, takes much of her time in the summer; but in winter Glo can usually be found in an office behind a typewriter.

BARRY G. THOMAS—General
Secretary of his homeroom and a member of Hi-Y, Barry hopes to become a member of the Merchant Marines.

JAMES C. THORBAHN—General
Jim wishes to become a doctor or a forester after he graduates. In school he was kept busy as homeroom program chairman and as an active member of the swimming team.

RAQUEL TORRES—Distributive Education
Rocki, a New Yorker who joined the class of '32 the senior year, has made a place for herself here. Her interest in playing the accordion she hopes will be used professionally.

MARINA TREEPHOS—Commercial
Her aim—to be a private secretary. Her interests—dancing, reading, and sports. A friendly wave of her hand to everyone has—Marina.

JAMES A. TRIMBLE—Vocational
Jim intends to go to Franklin and Marshall College to fulfill his ambition to become a math teacher. His McCaskey activities have included sports.

Office Buddy Be a good girl and don't do anything I wouldn't like

Remember the fun we've had at McCaskey! Rocki

JOAN EDITH TRUXAL—College Preparatory
Josie, who has many interests, including the Marines, will soon be found working in a bank. Her many activities at L.H.S. include Y-Teens, National Honor Society, and the All-School Social Committee.

RICHARD TSHUDY—General
Dick, who "loves" fishing, hopes to do office work after graduation.

JAY LARRY ULMER—General
This likable fellow hopes to become an interior decorator. His enthusiasm for hunting and fishing heads his list of interests.

SHIRLEY A. ULMER—Commercial
Shirl is a little girl who is full of fun and the life of every party. In addition to singing in the Glee Club, swimming, and Y-Teens, she is studying to be a secretary.

JACK UNDERKOFFLER—General
Hunting and fishing along with football and track interest Jack, who will undertake undertaking in the future.

SPIROS G. VALUDES—General
An interest in sports will keep Spiros fit to enter the Armed Forces.

HARRY VULOPAS—General
If Harry delivers sermons when he becomes a minister as he recites poetry, he will easily please his congregation.

JOAN C. WADE—Commercial
This active student is her homeroom president, member of Dolphin Club, All-School Social Committee, and Y-Teens. Her favorite pastimes are sports, art, and dancing. She aspires to be a commercial artist.

GERALDINE MAE WALKER—Distributive Education
Jeri's main interests in life are cats and submarine sandwiches. She will use her work at Wissler's as training for future service in floral arrangements.

Best wishes to a real sharp guy. Hope to see you in the future.
Joan*

SYLVIA EILEEN WALKER—General
A new-comer to McCaskey, Sylvia has entered the Majorette Club and has participated in intramural sports. Striking toward a high goal, she hopes to enter the field of law.

HELEN M. WALTON—General
A future home economics teacher is Sis. One can at almost any time find her with a needle in one hand and thread in the other.

WILLIAM C. WARNER—Commercial
Bill, who is interested in sports, plans to be an accountant.

FRANCIS P. WATTERSON—Vocational
Interested in sports and his woodworking hobbies, Tom will become an architectural draftsman.

RICHARD KENNETH WEAVER—General
Though he plans to be a mechanical engineer someday, Dick's main interest is sports.

RICHARD R. WEAVER—Vocational
Rube plays football, basketball, and golf. His ambition is to go to college.

JAMES WENGER—College Preparatory
Jim, a sports enthusiast, is on the wrestling team. He plans to study pharmacy at Temple University. His interest in chemistry and physics should certainly help him.

BARBARA ANN WHITE—General
Horses, music, dancing, and Tony Curtis are Bobby's hobbies. She participates in intramural sports, Y-Teens, and the Dolphin Club, and her future lies in secretarial work.

SUSAN L. WILLET—College Preparatory
Susie, the person to see when you want something done, centers her attention on the All-School Social Committee, Dramatics Club, Student Council, National Thespians, and preparing to be an excellent nurse.

*To a real sweet
bff. Be Good
Love Barb.*

RUTH V. WILLIAMS—College Preparatory
Music and collecting pennants hold great interest for Ruth, who hopes to be an elementary school teacher. Her activities include Band and Orchestra.

Good looking
DOROTHY ANNE WILSON—College Preparatory
Y-Teens, ECHO staff, and Ushering Committee are included in Anne's activities. She enjoys dancing, mathematics, and collecting photos, although her work in the college preparatory course keeps her busy.

GLENN R. WOLF—General
Friendly and quiet, Wolfy likes football and track. He's a member of the Buchanan Hi-Y and in the future will be a member of the printing profession.

JOHN WOLF—General
Books will be audited accurately if John fulfills his ambition to become an accountant.

RAYMOND WOLF—College Preparatory
Ray, a conscientious varsity letterman on the soccer and wrestling squads, would like to open a shoe store.

JAMES L. WORK—College Preparatory
Becoming a scientist is Jim's laudable ambition. He is now interested in golf, and participated in the Senior Glee Club, Chess Club, and the VIDETTE staff. He is employed by the Western Union Telegraph Company as a messenger boy.

JEAN MARIE WRIGHT—Commercial
Jeanie, who has a variety of activities, including the National Honor Society, ECHO staff, Y-Teens, and intramural sports, will brighten some office when she becomes a secretary.

GERTRUDE ANN YORK—College Preparatory
